Tim Torres, a Principal at WilkinGuttenplan, has been with the firm since 2015 and brings extensive tax and advisory services expertise. He is dedicated to providing exceptional client experiences, particularly within the pharmaceuticals and life sciences, closely held businesses, and emerging entrepreneurs industries.

As an active member of WilkinGuttenplan's Pharmaceuticals & Life Sciences group, Tim collaborates with companies at all stages of growth—from early development to commercial distribution. He specializes in income tax accounting (ASC-740) and provides strategic guidance to help organizations navigate the complexities of this dynamic industry.

Tim's expertise extends to consulting and compliance for corporate and closely held businesses with multi-state and international operations. He is adept at identifying and securing federal and state-level credits and grants for organizations and their shareholders, optimizing financial outcomes. His strong focus on mergers and acquisitions (M&A) includes both buy-side and sell-side transactions, where he delivers insightful analysis and tailored strategies to ensure successful outcomes.

Dedicated to supporting professional growth, Tim values mentoring and developing team members throughout their careers, assisting them in building technical expertise and leadership skills. Prior to joining WilkinGuttenplan, he served as a senior tax accountant at a boutique accounting firm, where he provided specialized tax services to clients in the real estate and thoroughbred industries.

Tim's comprehensive knowledge and client-focused approach make him a trusted advisor for businesses seeking strategic tax solutions and long-term success.
